

Be Happy!!!

Last year for Christmas was one of the most joyous days of my life. Me just looking and knowing that there are actually people out there in the world that cares about kids like us put a smile on my face. I had a splended time opening the gifts that I received.

Knowing that I wasn't going to be home for the holidays just made me think of all the past Christmas I had with my parents. Just knowing that those Christmas's wasn't the best. I had to realize that if it wasn't for PA Kids, I would probably be on the streets.

So this Christmas, it made me feel like I was someone special. That someone actually thought of me.

Thank You for everything!!!
